Moved to Littleton.

Prof. L. W. Bagley and family who have been living in Scotland Neck four years, have returned to Littleton where Prof. Bagley will conduct a school in his own school building. The people of Scotland Neck and community feel deep regret at losing this good family. Professor Bagley, Mrs. Bagley and Miss Kate are all excellent and most accomplished teachers and their presence and influence and services are worth much to any community. Scotland Neck loses much and Littleton gains much in their going. It was the desire of the people here that they should remain in Scotland Neck, but Prof. Bagley felt impelled to return to Littleton in order to look after his own property and where he sees a field for good work and usefulness.

The best wishes of all the people here go with them and their friends here will be glad to welcome them at any time they may feel inclined to return.

THEIR WORK IN SCOTLAND NECK HAS been greatly appreciated and their good influence here will live long to bless those of this generation and even those of a generation to come.

A BEAUTIFUL MARRIAGE.

Charming Bride and Popular Groom in Enfield.

On June 29th Miss Whitaker was married to Mr. Clement in Enfield. The following interesting account appeared in the Morning Post:

"Seldom, if ever, has this town recorded an event of more widespread social interest than that witnessed in the Church of the Advent on Wednesday, June 29th, when the marriage of Mr. Walter T. Clement and Miss Elizabeth Hampden Whitaker was solemnized. For days before decorators had busied themselves in beautifying the church, and the artistic arrangement of palms, ferns and cut flowers was the occasion of much favorable comment. 'The popularity of the couple bade defiance to the inclement weather and long before the hour appointed for the ceremony the church was well filled with admiring friends.

"Hardly had the notes of 'Oh Perfect Love,' most sweetly rendered by Miss Grace Clement, of Oxford, N. C., sister of the groom, died away when the organ, under the deft touch of Mrs. J. R. Mathews, pealed forth Lohengrin's wedding march, announcing the bridal party. Miss Lucy Harrison, in white organdie and Master Daniel Bell in white cloth suit came first, opening the gates for the bride party, which entered in the following order: Dr. A. S. Harrison and Mr. Ivy Watson ushers; Misses Stella Phippen and Ferdinand Clark; Messrs. W. E. Beavans and Raymond C. Dunn; Miss Annie Simpson of Wilson and Miss Mary Harrison; Messrs. Henry Burwell and Henry W. Collins; Miss Ethel Clement of Oxford and Miss Ruby Whitaker; Messrs. H. H. Harrison and Sam. G. Whitfield. Then came the first bridesmaid, Miss Madge Drummond of Norfolk, Va., in white organdie over white taffeta trimmed in pink ribbon and lace, with Mr. J. R. Whitaker, Jr., brother of the bride. Miss Mary Collins, maid of honor, gown in white organdie and lace over pink taffeta, wearing white picture hat, trimmed in pink roses and white ostrich plumes, and carrying la france roses and ferns, entered alone, followed by Mrs. J. R. Whitaker, Jr., dame of honor, wearing point d'esprit over green taffeta with white picture hat, carrying white roses. The bride, handsomely gowned in embroidered crepe de chine, with duchess lace, carrying a shower bouquet of brides roses, entered, leaning on the arm of her father, Mr. J. R. Whitaker, and was met at the altar by the groom who entered from the vestry with his best man, Mr. J. Foster Rogers, of Goldsboro.

"The bridesmaids' gowns were of white organdie over white taffeta with pink and green girdles of panne velvet. They wore white picture hats and carried ferns.

"The ceremony was impressively performed by the Rev. L. H. Shubert according to the beautiful ritual of the Episcopal church, the prayer-book used in the service having been in the Whitaker family for several generations. Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party and scores of invited guests repaired to the home of the bride's parents where an elegant reception, with Moeston of Richmond as caterer, was given. Mr. and Mrs. Clement left on an evening train for an extended western tour, after which they will make Enfield their home. The popularity of the bride and groom was attested by the numerous, beautiful and costly presents. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome horse and trap.

"The bride is easily one of the most beautiful women in eastern Carolina, and her amiable disposition and lovely character readily convert her acquaintances into friends. She comes of an old and distinguished family which for generations has figured most prominently in political and social history.

"The groom is a most efficient, capable and successful business man, being actively identified with the tobacco interests of this section. His gentlemanly bearing, his courteous manner, his frank and open nature in all his sterling worth have combined to make the name of 'Judge' Clement the synonym of popularity."

Mr. Walter Gray Shot.

On Monday, July 4th, some young men and young ladies went to White's mill to enjoy an afternoon outing. Part of the diversion was shooting at a tin cup or bucket on a stump in the water. Mr. Gray went in a canoe to place the cup and as he was pushing back to the shore, a pistol in the hands of Mr. Will Alligood accidentally fired. Mr. Gray was standing up in the canoe and exclaimed that he was shot. As he did not fall those on the bank thought he was joking; but he persisted in declaring that he was shot. He was assisted to the shore and when examined it was found that the ball had entered his stomach. He was placed on a wagon and brought to town. A phone message was sent in for a physician. Doctors Clark and Wimberley were sent to meet him and gave what relief they could. He reached town about 5 o'clock.

The physicians thought it best to take him to the hospital in Tarboro. He was taken to Palmyra and sent to Tarboro on the 7 o'clock train. Dr. Wimberley, Messrs. J. E. Hancock and L. M. Pittman accompanied him to Tarboro.

An operation was performed, and it was found that the ball had passed through the stomach, had cut away part of the liver and lodged in the back. The patient was on the operating table two hours or more, but after the operation rested easily.

Mr. Gray was about twenty feet away when the pistol fired. The ball was a 32-calibre.

THE COMMONWEALTH had a phone message this morning at six o'clock, which said that Mr. Gray was no better but was growing weaker.

The young man in whose hands the pistol fired is greatly distressed over the accident—he has been almost prostrated ever since it occurred. Great sympathy is felt for Mr. Gray, his family and for Mr. Alligood.

Pleasant Entertainment.

Miss Bessie Hancock entertained a number of friends Monday evening, July 4, in honor of her accomplished and attractive friend, Miss Britt, of Lewiston, N. C. After playing "progressive upjinks" refreshments were served in the dining room. All pronounced the evening enjoyable and Miss Hancock a charming hostess.
